

A vibrant illustration of six stylized flowers of various colors (purple, yellow, orange, blue, green, and pink) with green stems and leaves, set against a solid pink background. The flowers are arranged in a cluster, with some taller than others, creating a sense of depth. Each flower has a unique pattern of colors in its petals and center.

MMIP Art Exhibit

In honor of all Missing and Murdered Indigenous People our community will be spreading awareness and educating others in our community on the impact that this has within the native communities. Please be on the lookout for more information and projects!

"May 5th is Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women (MMIW) Awareness Day. Though awareness for MMIW has increased in recent years, it still very much remains a crisis. According to the U.S. Justice Department, the murder rate of Native females is more than ten times the national average on some reservations. Often, these disappearances or murders are connected to domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, stalking, and sex trafficking."

Library Giving Day

Wednesday, April 7

#LibraryGivingDay is a one-day fundraising event with the goal of encouraging people who depend on and enjoy public libraries to donate to their individual library system. And in turn, that support will go toward the incredible programs, services and materials provided by local libraries all over the country.

To learn more and support your local library visit this website:
<https://librarygivingday.org/support-library/>
We also accept donations at our service desk!

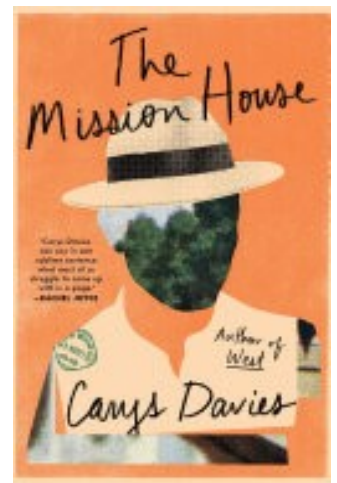

Thank you Sponsors!
